Association Alleges Misrepresentation by the Committee of Experts.

Postmaster Morgan, who returned yesterday from Washington, where he appeared before the House Committee Post Office and Post Roads, said he believed the pneumatic mail tube servies in New York city would stay. A clause which gives the Postmaster-Genclause which gives the Postmaster-General the right to discontinue certain of the New York tube contracts upon six months notice was not an unusual clause for Government contracts, Mr. Morgan said, and he believed the postal facilities here were in no imminent danger of being crippled by the elimination of the tubes.
